

Speakers

Ivonne Higuero
Secretary General of CITES

Carlos Salinas
ACTO Director

César Beltetón
CITES/OTCA
Expert

Kanako Ishii
ITTO

Margarita África
Clemente Muñoz
CITES Expert

Fabiola Núñez Neyra
Representative
of Peru

David Veintimilla Representative of Ecuador

Find out more

Broadcast
 OTCAvideo

Side Event of ACTO
Tree Species:
With the support of ACTO,
Amazonian countries coordinate efforts to implement CITES

ACTO AT CITES COP 19

Tuesday
Nov 22nd
2022

17:15-19:00

Istmo 1
Panama Convention Center

English Version

Agenda

Time	Activity
Segment 1	Mauro Luis Ruffino , coordinator of the ACTO's Bioamazon Project and the Amazon Regional Observatory Opening and greetings to CITES authorities, panelists, Member Countries and participants in general.
	Ivonne Higuero , Secretary General of CITES A strategic vision on the importance of the involvement of intergovernmental organizations in the support of CITES implementation aimed at tree species regulated through the Convention.
	Carlos Salinas , Director of ACTO Extents of the ACTO Regional Forestry Program and its importance for CITES.
	Cesar Beltetón , CITES/ACTO Expert The progress of Amazonian countries in the implementation of CITES for tree species in the framework of the Amazon Cooperation Treaty Organization (ACTO).
	Launch of the Forests Module of the Amazon Regional Observatory

Time	Activity
Segment 2	David Veintimilla , Representative of Ecuador Biodiversity expert and CITES Focal Point at the Ministry of Environment, Water and Ecological Transition of Ecuador Experiences on CITES implementation for tree species in Ecuador in the framework of the contribution of the Bioamazon Project of ACTO.
	Fabiola Nuñez , Representative of Peru Director of Ecosystems and Species Conservation of the Ministry of Environment of Peru Experiences on CITES implementation for tree species in Peru in the framework of the contribution of the Bioamazon Project of ACTO.
	Kanako Ishii , Representative of the International Tropical Timber Organization (ITTO) Experiences in the framework of the ITTO-CITES Program and future perspectives for working regionally with CITES-listed tree species in ACTO Member Countries.
Segment 3	Margarita África Clemente Muñoz , CITES Expert Overview and conclusions about the importance of conservation and sustainable management of CITES-listed Amazonian tree species and the regional role of ACTO in addressing future challenges.
	Participation of audience Questions and answers session Event closing Reception

